THE CARDINAL

1943

We—

The Class of '44—

Present this diary of a war year,

*Hoping that these swift tangential fragments
May, in some measure,
Immure the essence of our time.*

Editor—AGATHA SMITH

Business Manager—HILTON HEMING

Assistant Editor—NANCY BEATON

In gratitude, humility,

The Class of 1944 inscribes this CARDINAL

To men and women who have lived a brief space

Within the walls of this, our Alma Mater,

Have left their impress upon her, as she on them,

And now, with constant courage, fight and die

That she, the things she personates,

May live Forever.

HUMBLY WE HONOR—

Inevitably with these war years, many of our students and alumni, as well as two members of the faculty, have changed the bent of the careers for service with the armed forces.

That a small measure of recognition and appreciation might be given to the men and women of this college, an honor roll, sponsored by the House of Delegates, was placed in the main lobby last January.

One hundred and sixty-eight names of P. S. T. C. students, from '29 to '46, are listed; and Army, Navy, Marines, Merchant Marines, Air Corps, WAACS, WAVES, and RCAF are represented on the ever-expanding roll.

Index

With pride we present—

*Dear friends, co-workers, who have passed this way
To the goal direct of peace victorious.*

Dr. Charles C. Ward

*Conviction, strong in this land, this people, this way of life—
By belief, deep-rooted, inscribed in learning, building bright Tomorrow;
Inspiration, making deep in purpose us who with our hearts have experienced enduring faith.*

1943 CARDINAL

This issue of the CARDINAL marks the close of our first full year as a war-time college. The impact of a world in tragic struggle has made many changes and developed many new values in our college life. In these twelve months we have learned something of sacrifice, we have worked harder and we have thought less of self. The increasing effort we have made to do our share in the nation's effort has given new emphasis to the long-time values of our American Way of Life. Again we have learned that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" and that there is no detour to justice and freedom. Anew we have realized that as the hope of one must be the hope of all, so the service of all must be the service of each one of us.

In retrospect, those of us who are older know clearly the fineness and courage of American youth. Generations gone, who gave themselves that we might live, may rest in peace; our youth is all for which they hoped. Smiling and unfrownd, we shall accept whatever task lies ahead, whether it comes to us here or in the more distant places of the earth. Because of this, we shall have our share in the greater America which lies ahead, on America whose vision includes a universal justice without which there can be no universal peace.

EXEMPLARY OF THE AMERICAN ROAD TO CULTURE

Being excerpts from a History of Teacher Training in Plattsburgh, as written by Mrs. John C. Doran, of Plattsburgh, and of the class of 1943. The original chronicle was published in the Plattsburgh Press of May 26, 1942.

DREAM BECOMES A REALITY

In the spring of 1811, a committee selected a lot on Oak Street to be bounded on the south by a "contemplated street" to be laid out between the land of Melancthon Smith and lot number 7, then owned by Abraham Brinkerhoff, Jr., of New York City, and upon which the Plattsburgh Academy was to be built.

The building was immediately commenced, and completed in the same year. Bela Edgerton was chosen as the first principal in 1812.

... It was in the year 1816 that the Lancaster System was started in the Plattsburgh Academy. This system was actually the nucleus of Teacher Training in Plattsburgh . . .

FROM ACADEMY TO NORMAL SCHOOL

... During the eighties, the people of Plattsburgh appealed to our educational administrator, Andrew S. Draper, who was State Superintendent of Public Instruction, in behalf of the proposal that an educational institution should prepare leaders for the civilization that was to come. The result was the establishment of this great teacher training institution for the North Country—"Plattsburgh State Normal School."

... In January 1888, Honorable Stephen Moffitt, a member of the Assembly, introduced a bill providing for the establishment of said institution, which became a law that year.

... So it was that on September 3, 1890, Plattsburgh Normal School was opened with about 100 pupils enrolled. Principal Fox Holden was at the head of the faculty, consisting of 12 members.

The first graduating class was in June 1891 . . .

DR. HAWKINS TAKES HELM

... In 1898 Dr. Jones resigned and was succeeded by Dr. George K. Hawkins, a member of the normal school faculty. In 1910, through the endeavors of Dr. Hawkins, the P.S.N.S. was given the authority to train commercial teachers for the high schools of the state. This was to be a three-year course . . .

It was in 1922 that Plattsburgh State Normal School became a three-year course for elementary teacher training, and in July of that same year, the first summer session was held . . .

TRAGEDY AND NEW BIRTH

On Saturday, January 26, 1929, Plattsburgh sustained one of the most severe blows in her history—the P.S.N.S. burned to the ground . . .

Because of the fire, there were inadequate facilities for housing the commercial department, and in 1931, it was transferred to Albany State Teachers College . . .

Construction on the new school was started in 1930, and completed in 1933, at a cost of slightly over a million dollars.

OUR TIMES EMERGE

On June 3, 1933, Dr. George K. Hawkins retired as principal of the normal school. He was recognized as one of the foremost educators in North Eastern New York. His resignation culminated service of 42 years: 7 as instructor of mathematics, and 35 as principal of the normal school.

... On June 11, 1933, Dr. Charles C. Ward, Director of Teacher Training in the State Department of Education, was appointed by the Board of Regents to succeed Dr. Hawkins as principal . . .

MARCH QUICKENS

Nineteen hundred thirty-seven marks the beginning of a new era in education for Plattsburgh Normal School in Elementary Education Training. Provisional teaching certificates were issued with the diploma after the third year . . .

In September, 1937, a four-year course in Home Economics was established . . .

In May, 1938, the Regents Board authorized that the three-year Elementary Course be lengthened to a four-year course.

... In October, 1939, the Board of Regents granted a degree of Bachelor of Science in Education to members of the Home Economics Course.

... In January, 1942, the Board granted the degree of Bachelor of Education to those completing the four-year Elementary Course.

FROM NORMAL TO COLLEGE

Thanks to Senator Feinberg and the many interested men of the North Country . . . the bill was finally passed on April 13, 1942, when Plattsburgh Normal School became Plattsburgh Teachers College.

... I see it as an emblem of the achievements of thousands of men and women . . . an inspiration to the President, Dr. Charles C. Ward, faculty and students . . . an everlasting tribute to past principals . . . a definite goal within the reach of all desiring higher education.

A truly democratic organization, the "House" is the major governing body of Plattsburgh State Teachers College. Its members come from each organization in school that holds a House charter.

This year, in addition to its regular supervision of social affairs, assemblies, and student problems, the House sponsored erection of the Honor Roll dedicated to those from the college now serving in the Armed Services. It also was instrumental in securing a space on the north bulletin board on which to post letters and pictures from men in the Services.

Early in the fall, the House of Delegates received an invitation from Potsdam State Teachers College to send representatives to a conference to be held there on "Education and World Reconstruction." It accepted, and Anne Grasette, as House President, headed the group of delegates from the college.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Made up of the officers and standing committees of the House of Delegates, the Student Council functions as a steering committee for House discussion by aiding the president in formulating plans for the coming meetings. Because of the Council, there can be much student discussion at the House meetings.

Women's Residence Board is the organization that makes sure P.S.T.S. gals get their bread and board (rationing allowing). Here, too, the representatives from each house get together to discuss and act on housing and boarding problems that range from the number of vitamins needed in a daily diet to the how's and why's of house rules.

The Board has come into its own this year, having, after three years of existence, not only drawn up a constitution but also having become a member of the House of Delegates.

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL

Co-ordinator of sorority and fraternity affairs is the Interfraternity Council, more commonly known around the campus as "Interfrat." Composed of two delegates from each fraternal organization, it aims to keep running smoothly business affecting all the organizations.

The Council directed the Interfraternity Dance given last Fall for all members and rushees. Later it supervised the pledging and initiating of the new members.

September, 1939, found them wandering through the halls of P.S.N.S., freshmen—anxious for the fun and excitement of being away at school.

As sophomores, they transformed the gymnasium into a representation of the Hialeah Race Track, and we danced at a Soiree we shall always remember.

In 1941 they were juniors in a Teachers College, and busy working on the CARDINAL. Thanks to them—one more yearbook of pictures, write-ups and friendly comments was added to our college memoirs.

When Uncle Sam called—the class of 1943 answered, as of March 1, with Fallon, Frazier, Mitchell, and their president for two-and-a-half years—Ralph Grover. All the other fellows are in the reserved forces subject to call at any time.

Now the class is carrying on under the leadership of Bessie Barbour—making plans for class day, baccalaureate, and graduation.

They have every reason to be "proud to be of the class of '43."

JUNIORS

Juniors—only one more step to go—yet it seems but yesterday they crowded, wide-eyed, into a first Freshman Seminar. In one of their lighter moods they dreamed up those weird stalagmites and stalactites that everyone danced around at their Freshman Hop.

Their Sophomore Soiree was really a circus—with popcorn and “cokes” for refreshments and a real live clown.

Junior Week will always be remembered, by juniors as well as the ever-understanding faculty members—and who can forget getting the CARDINAL off to press?

“Forward as teachers go”—that is, student teachers at first. Then comes the job for which they have been eagerly waiting and training.

SOPHOMORES

Freshmen in a war year—the class of '45 used ingenuity and carried out some novel ideas. They broke tradition when they elected a girl for their president—and Lillian Ratte did a grand job of leadership during their initial year. It was their idea to invest in material for a permanent ceiling to be used at dances—thus cutting expenses and conserving paper.

As sophomores, they again showed originality by putting on a successful dance, despite sugar and gasoline shortages—dancing at a Fiesta down Mexico way—to the music of the 1211th Post band.

This class also heard the call of Uncle Sam, and Casey, Fifield, Furness, Moore, and the class president—Trombly—had joined the fighting forces by March 1, while other members of the class enlisted in the Reserves.

We know this class means it when they sing, in part of their class song.

"So we will all sail on together,
For our goal is Victory."

FRESHMEN

Meekly, mildly, 160 bewildered freshmen filed past the registrar's desk on September 14, 1942. During their first week the honeyed sophomores were perfect hosts and hostesses, locating classrooms for lost "frosh," introducing them to college haunts, and escorting them to teas and picnics. A few days later, however, the sophs showed their true colors by directing Dandelion Digging and other Freshman Initiation activities.

The Freshman Hop kept step with its time by red, white, and blue decorations and the music of the 1211th Post band. As the year ended, the freshmen who remained after 41 frosh Reservists had entered active service felt that they had established their reputation as a class and hoped that their other three years would prove as successful as their first.

OUR RESERVES

We are at war, and during war time, we must gear our college program to meet war needs. The primary aim of the War Curriculum Program in Physical Education is to help the Reserve to build up his strength and endurance, to increase his agility, and to improve his coordination. All this must be done as quickly and as efficiently as possible so that he will be physically ready at his induction into the Armed Forces.

The Plattsburgh program is largely based on the Naval V tests as set up by Virginia and North Carolina Universities. The activities stressed are drill tactics, rope climbing, apparatus, boxing, tumbling, basketball, handball, tennis, badminton and touch football. An obstacle course affords the student a chance to work under conditions similar to those he will find in active service. The students in the Freshman War Curriculum class have passed all the minimum tests.

We are very fortunate in having Captain Henry Smith from the Plattsburgh Barracks for marching tactics. Through him, the Reserves are taught the same tactics as those given to the man in active service.

Salute the Red and White

This year blended with the National Banner

Second Row—Coach Wiley, Rooney, Jackstadt, LaRocque, Powell, Merigis, Frazier, Boyerl, Dr. Redcay Front Row—Bogle, Bremser, Captain DeLaire, O'Hare, O'Brien

Not just another year and another cage season have come and gone. With the Armed Forces requiring Plattsburgh strength and speed and athletic skill, this may have been basketball's swan song for the duration. If so, it was a swan song of moment, when, despite curtailment of schedule because of transportation difficulties, the dribble, the pivot, and the pass supplied intercollegiate thrills in plenty for the students of P.S.T.C. A double win over New Paltz, the Redbirds' traditional rival, made the abbreviated and arduous season an outstanding success.

And now the boys, following their Captain, turn to other and sterner fields, where Redbird competitive spirit, loyalty, and sportsmanship will shine on far-flung battlefronts, and the Cardinal and White gleam not unworthily beside another banner.

RAH! RAH!! RAH!!!

Three cheers for the cheerleaders, everybody. What d'ya say?

They start their practicing early in the fall; break in freshmen at try-outs, and strengthen their own ability to yell loud and long. After sufficient practice, three freshman girls are chosen and regular, routine workouts begin. New cheers are tried, and old ones refurbished a bit.

As the spectators answer the CARDINAL ECHO, they are rightfully dedicating their praise, in part, to the girls behind the boys behind the ball.

THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT

Approximately fifty per cent of the student body finds place in one or another of the college's five music organizations—Girls' Glee Club, Mixed Chorus, Orchestra, Freshman Oetet and Varsity Septet.

This year, one of the organizations' best, has seen them present two assemblies. They have contributed to the college's entertainment in other ways, as when the Mixed Chorus sang the Cantata at the Candlelight Service and the Varsity Septet and Girls' Glee Club broadcast programs over station WMFF.

Fitting climax of the year's activities was the always memorable May Music Week Festival, in which all the organizations co-operated.

"Buy a bond today!" The Agos, trying to do their utmost in the war effort, took heed of the slogan by purchasing a number of bonds. Realizing that this was a gesture in earnest of further effort, they put other plans upon a war-time footing.

The Sorority year began in October and initiated activity in November with a tea for the student body. Then AKO delighted its rushees with an old-fashioned black-face minstrel show for the Rush Party. Traditionally the Agonians joined with the other sororities in the Interfraternity Dance for rushees. In February, the Pledge Banquet was held at the Hotel Cumberland, with festivities culminating in the pledging at midnight—the solemn and beautiful Ago way. "Hell Week" provided the final test for the pledgees. Through bathing caps, braids, paste, and horrible clothes, their characters were proved. A year of happiness was climaxed by the annual Farewell Banquet in June.

Even though a majority vote of all chapters postponing Convocation for the duration shelved carefully conceived ideas and plans, the Clios had an exciting year . . . Rush parties, Pledge and Initiation activities have left enduring and happy memories . . . The Interfrat shindig started the rush season, with farmerettes and their prize animals proceeding to a Clio fair . . . Then there were the Pledge Banquet, the Initiation Supper, and the Senior Breakfast . . . picnics and parties . . . And now it's good-bye to another year of fun, folly, and lasting friendships, though where the dream lingers, good-bye is the paradox that fortifies the heart.

Happy reunion in September—and the Frosh girls greeted by the Alpha Deltas—the now traditional coke-tail party. They went native—native Swiss—at the rush shindig—complete with chalets and suspenders. Another tradition carried on—the spaghetti supper with yards and yards of stories, and spaghetti, of course. Lots of laughs and solemnity at the meetings. Then the horrible spectacle of the pledgees, groveling before the hard-hearted members. Came the night of formal initiation, and the beauty of the ceremony made up for it all. Finale—the merriest, and the saddest occasion of the year—the Farewell Banquet to the Seniors—exit the old life and welcome the new.

The nine members who returned last fall (all of whom were in the Reserves) decided to make the fifteenth chapter of the club the final—for the duration.

The fraternity was active until January, holding regular meetings and pot-luck suppers and working on the "Interfrat" dance. The climax of the year was a closing party held at the home of Mr. Moyer.

Northern Light

One of the most active of P.S.T.C. organizations in aiding the war effort has been the Northern Light, the college newspaper. During the year 1942-43, the newspaper successfully sponsored the "Buy a Jeep" war stamp drive, and co-sponsored a second stamp drive which made Doreen Lyons Campus Queen.

Greeting the Freshmen with its first issue on the opening day of school, the newspaper maintained its bi-weekly publication schedule in spite of the mid-year shake-up which saw Patricia Robbins become editor-in-chief to replace Hilton Heming, who left school for active duty in the Armed Services. Ample reward for the year's work came in the shape of a third-class honor rating from the Associated Collegiate Press.

For the past eight years THE TOWER has been the literary magazine of the college. It is a semi-annual periodical written and edited by the students, and presenting for the pleasure of its patrons story, essay, article, verse, and critical review—the last in measure palatably limited. The writing varies in tone and theme from the lightly humorous to the seriously analytical. The sophomore composition classes, other students interested in writing, and the staff are numbered among its contributors.

The tiny, dancing stars—the crescent moon—the youthful, happy faces turned skyward, the unpleasantnesses of life forgotten when this merry group thinks of bigger, more remote affairs—good-natured "Rusty" with wonderful plans—the Tea Dance—the unique assembly—Yo wah gee neh! Remember? The fun we had those many meeting nights! The ever-exciting heavens through the telescope! There's nothing new under the sun—only something waiting to be discovered. Want to peek?

A meal out every month—that was one of the things that Supper Club meant to these 18 lighthousekeepers who met to cook and eat a meal together on the first Tuesday night of every month this year. Duties were divided, and novel menus were prepared by people who knew that they would not have to wash the dishes.

Largest event of the Supper Club's year was the sponsorship of the All-College Supper, honoring the basketball team. Almost the entire student body gathered to enjoy a delicious meal and unique program at this informal gathering.

CONTEMPORARY PROBLEMS FORUM

The Contemporary Problems Forum is composed of a group of students who meet to discuss, informally, current problems such as rationing and various phases of the war.

For each meeting there is a different steering committee to dispense specific information as the need arises. Membership is not fixed, as any student may attend who so desires.

The meetings are held in the lounge, or in the homes of faculty advisers, where refreshments are usually served. An informal atmosphere proves conducive to discussion.

The group is fortunate in having, not one, but three faculty advisers: Dr. Alfred Diebolt, Professor Charles Smith and Dr. Stephen Chaconas.

The little red schoolhouse and its problems will never be a bogey for Rural Club members—they know what “makes it tick” from the cast-iron stove heating to muddy, muddy spring transportation.

Though gas was not to be had for actual visits to rural schools this year, discussions served a good second, and club members learned much of the economic, social and cultural background of the rural school, its organization and the part the Grange and 4-H Club play in rural life.

ALMA MATER

As the evening shades are falling,
And the day fades into night;
Pause a moment in the gloaming
To salute the Red and White.

Flag of red, our badge of courage
With your gleaming letters white;
Emblem of our Alma Mater
Guide us onward toward the right.

Though our ways may part forever,
In our hearts there shall be bright
All the golden memories gathered
'Neath the Banner red and white.

Flag of red, our badge of courage
With your gleaming letters white;
Emblem of our Alma Mater
Guide us onward toward the right.
